

V A A R: the new standard in luxury yacht furniture

These pages: Vaar Polarus - 181 Bellini bar chairs

Monegasque brand Vaar seamlessly blends Italian creativity with traditional Italian craftsmanship. Specializing in custom, hand-made luxury furniture, Vaar caters to both high-end interior and outdoor projects, with a focus on iconic, yacht-inspired designs produced in limited editions.

The company was founded in Monaco in 2014 by interior designer Fulvia Ciapparelli and Carlo Tissi, a seasoned yachtsman and captain of luxury vessels. Their shared passion for the sea gave rise to meticulously crafted pieces that seamlessly fit specific spaces, drawing inspiration from yacht layouts and adding an exclusive touch to Vaar's projects.

Their combined expertise serves as the foundation for creating bespoke handcrafted yacht furniture, with the harmonious blend of functionality and the beauty of pure forms at the heart of their design philosophy.

Vaar's design inspiration draws from the 1920s and 1930s, particularly the Modernist Movement, which is known for its clean lines and cool simplicity, executed with precision and fine materials. The brand's focus on the purity of form reflects the perfect marriage of aesthetic and practical principles.

Functionality, simplicity, and extreme elegance are the core elements of their design, with the interplay of various materials and finishes adding an eclectic and visually intriguing contrast. Each piece is unique, reflecting a personal vision and crafted to exclusive, bespoke shapes.

Italian ingenuity, a hallmark of traditional Italian craftsmanship, lies at the core of every Vaar piece. Each item is handmade in Italy to ensure top-tier design, quality, and durability, especially within the marine environment.

The production process is the result of close collaboration between Fulvia Ciapparelli Tissi, head of the design team, and a group of highly skilled craftsmen, including blacksmiths, carpenters, carvers, marble workers, marqueteurs, painters, metalworkers, titanium specialists, and upholsterers. These artisans employ the most appropriate traditional techniques for each stage of production, with a strong focus on sustainable manufacturing practices.

Each piece of furniture is individually designed and crafted as a haute couture creation—an exclusive luxury product, made possible by exceptional Italian craftsmen who excel in custom marquetry, grating, leather stitching and weaving, upholstery, metal forging, and superior wood finishing. Vaar's handcrafted approach also allows for client-driven customization.

Working directly with yacht owners, as well as shipyards and architecture studios, Fulvia Ciapparelli, Vaar's co-founder and art director, creates bespoke, handcrafted luxury pieces.

The brand consistently delivers custom projects with exceptional quality, uniqueness, and exclusivity. Fulvia's visions, dreams, and functional requirements are at the heart of every custom project. After presenting initial sketches and drawings to clients, the final designs are approved, followed by a detailed render and prototype. The production of new furniture begins only after the prototype has been finalized. This handcrafted prototype sets bespoke projects apart from large-scale manufacturing. Custom finishes play a crucial role in personalizing each Vaar piece.

Vaar's production is predominantly focused on yachting projects, with a continuous emphasis on sourcing high-quality, durable outdoor materials and finishes. The brand's ability to customize every product ensures a willingness to experiment with new materials, while its expertise in delivering unique finishes in custom projects remains its strongest asset. As a result, every Vaar interior and exterior project is truly one-of-a-kind.

This page: interior designer Fulvia Ciapparelli, Vaar's co-founder and art director. She works directly with yacht owners, shipyards and architecture studios
Right-hand page: some of the jewels of Vaar.
Top left: Vaar VSB07 Salomé on board M/Y Polaris and next to it VDC02 Colombole, Titanium.
Below that from left to right: detail of the VSB09 Colombole, VCT06 Steel Vera Coffee Table, detail of the VTC04 Folding Colombole Coffee Table and the fine lines of the VLC07 Kalatrava armrest.
Third row from left to right: the VSB09 Colombole and the Bar Chair Bellini on the MY Polaris.
Bottom row: VDC01 Bellini, the VLC03 Salomé Lounge chair and the VLC07 Kalatrava Lounge Chair.